

Heterophobia

The hatred of the militant homosexuals

By Richard Carvath

The militant homosexual perverts – exemplified by the Stonewall lobby – would have us believe that homosexuality is normal and natural and that because most people do not accept this, homosexuals therefore fall into a special category of victim-hood which warrants them enjoying privileged status in law over the heterosexual majority.

The militant perverts coined a word – homophobia – with which to label anybody who disagrees with them: anybody who asserts that homosexuality is neither normal nor natural is branded a bigoted homophobe. The militant perverts have declared that any opposition to homosexuality is homophobic and a hate crime.

The militant perverts are hell-bent on silencing anybody who dares to oppose them.

In this dossier Richard Carvath reveals that when it comes to hatred, the chief hate-merchants are actually the homosexual perverts and their sympathisers.

Read on and witness the Hatred of the Homosexuals... Heterophobia

On Monday 7 December 2009 I posted an article on my blog under the headline:

“ Tories select homosexual pervert for Salford and Eccles ”

The blog article was brief and matter-of-fact:

“The Conservative Party has just selected homosexual Matthew Sephton as their candidate for Salford and Eccles. As a rival [and pro-heterosexual!] candidate I welcome Matthew to the contest for Salford and Eccles. ...”¹

I could not have predicted that this innocuous little blog-post was about to see me targeted by Greater Manchester Police, vilified by a Guardian journalist and subjected to the most appalling defamatory abuse in an internet campaign of heterophobic hatred.

On Tuesday 8 December 2009 I received a surprise email from Salford-based Police Constable Jacky Thompson:

“We have received a complaint today regarding concerns over the content of your blog article dated Monday 7th December 2009. A reader of your article has made a complaint that the content is offensive and feels strongly enough to report this matter to the police. He wishes for you to be advised over the potential alarm and distress caused by your article.”

“Whilst not taking this at face value and understanding the meaning of language and how it can be misinterpreted, it could be argued that the context of the comments made could be construed to be borderline criminal. At this stage I feel it would be advisable for you to remove this from your blog thereby preventing misinterpretation. Your assistance in this matter is greatly appreciated.”

I emailed this reply to PC Thompson:

“Dear PC Thompson, Thank you for your email. There is nothing criminal about my blog article and so I have no intention of removing it for the foreseeable future.”

“Homosexuality is a perversion: that is both moral truth and medical fact. Therefore it is quite reasonable for me to refer to a person in whom the perversion of homosexuality is manifest as a homosexual pervert. Let me make it clear that I do not use the term 'homosexual pervert' as a pejorative term – derogation is not my motive in using the term; I use the term simply to convey the true nature of what homosexuality is because I believe that the truth matters.”

“I'm aware that you are employed by an organisation [GMP] which is politically in favour of homosexual perversion. I'm aware that GMP celebrates its association with the militant perverts' organisation Stonewall. I'm aware of the secular humanist socio-political orthodoxy of 'equality' and 'diversity' which GMP panders to.”

“My advice to you is to stop being a social engineer trying to suppress free speech and get on with genuine police work. It is not a crime to criticise homosexuality and nor is it a crime to refer to a public gay political activist as a homosexual pervert. ... As a Christian I speak and act out of love – not hate...”

“My advice to you is to get on with dealing with real crime like robbery, rape and murder and stop trying to suppress free speech. Never has there been clearer proof of the vital importance of the Waddington free speech safeguard! ...I will not tolerate being harassed by a politicised, pro-homosexual Police force.”

On Thursday 10 December 2009 the Salford Advertiser newspaper published an article by Pamela Welsh under the headline:

“ Salford candidate’s warning from cops over gay hate rant ”

The Salford Advertiser told readers that:

“A prospective parliamentary candidate has been reported to the police for making homophobic remarks. Richard Carvath, who is standing as an independent candidate at the next election, used anti-gay language about Matthew Sephton, the Conservative candidate, in a blog post. He has been reported to the police for hate crime and asked to remove the comments from his blog. But Mr Carvath has refused, claiming there was nothing criminal about the piece.”

“Matthew Sephton was selected as the Conservative party candidate for the Salford and Eccles constituency last week. He is an experienced campaigner and works as a teacher in Stockport. He is also chair of LGBTory. Matthew Sephton said: ‘I think what Richard Carvath said is vile but people have always known that he has spouted some very bigoted opinions. I think most people know that he will be an irrelevance at this election.’”

“Mr Carvath defended his comments and refused to take them down. He said: ‘I was appalled to get the police email which I read as a subtly worded threat. It’s not any of the police’s business to try to police my speech. The gay lifestyle choice is characterised by wild promiscuity, disease, degradation, debt, loneliness, psychological problems and premature death. The lives of most gays are terribly sad but I don’t want them to suffer like this.’”

The story quickly drew the attention of outraged homosexuals from around the country. Guardian journalist and Pink News writer Adrian Tippetts really got his knickers in a twist. Tippetts commented about the article 5 times on the Salford Advertiser website.

Tippetts’ first comment questioned my state of mind for opposing homosexuality:

“Richard Carvath ... wants to re-criminalise homosexuality... Now, this is really important for all journalists: ask him: does he accept that evolution happened? How old he believes the earth to be? Does he think that the book of Genesis is literally true and does he think that man really did walk with dinosaurs? This is really important because the answers to these questions, settled centuries ago, tell us how rational or stable this man is. The argument about homosexuality, for instance, has been settled almost 40 years ago – every scientific institution accepts it's natural... Mr Carvath ... thinks Bronze-age Palestinian peasants have more to say about this than 21st century psychological and medical experts. ... The proper place for a person like this is on a street corner, hollering and ranting and screaming with a placard about the End Times, selling pencils from a cup, and being ignored or laughed at.”²

Tippetts’ second comment ranked my intellect alongside that of Forrest Gump:

“Mr Carvath panders to ignorance, to prejudice and to hysteria and he has NOT ONE single shred of evidence to support his position on homosexuality. ... Extraordinary claims require extraordinary evidence. ... He doesn't know what he is talking about and he isn't remotely qualified to talk. When interviewed, he cannot even string a sentence together. I don't believe that, even if he were to see the scientific evidence that supports the evolutionary explanations for homosexuality, he would have the intelligence to understand it. ... I am writing this not out of hatred, but as an act of kindness to Mr Carvath... Your loopy opinions are there for all time on Google. ... The more this man carries on, the bigger fool he will make of himself...”³

Tippetts’ third comment really challenged me ruthlessly:

“...provide credible evidence ... which supports your crazy claims. ... Do you accept the Theory of Evolution, and how old do you believe the earth to be? Don't duck these questions Mr Carvath.”⁴

Tippetts’ fourth comment set me straight (pardon the pun):

“...Mr Carvath ... there are evolutionary explanations for homosexuality. ...you have a contempt for science, and evidence in general. (We are not only evolved from apes; we are apes). We know evolution happened – there is no discussion about that; it's the most proven theory in science... The evidence is overwhelming and you reject it. ... YES, HOMOSEXUALITY IS NATURAL... You, Sir, are a disgrace to your community, and no doubt to the majority of well-meaning Christians. ... your book. Congratulations. It's no better than the graffiti one might read on the door of a public toilet. Is this where you get your literary inspiration, by any chance?”⁵

Tippetts’ fifth comment confirmed my stupidity for all time:

“Mr Carvath ... Your opinions on a range of issues ... are sickening. (Do you actually believe the Book of Genesis to be a literal account of the origins of life and of this planet and of human history? The voters, especially science teachers, need to know...) ... Homosexuality is not about sex, it is a natural way that a small minority of people express love. You seek to ridicule, demonise and condemn people for what they are, not what they 'do'... By what right do you make these claims, Mr Carvath? If you will not justify your claims, then you're out of the argument. ... JUST SOME OF THE CRAZY CLAIMS BY RICHARD CARVATH... Claim: 'Homosexual acts are biologically unnatural'. Again, the evidence is against you. We evolved to enjoy sex for pleasure – undisputed fact. [homosexuality is] ...no more unnatural than using legs to ride bicycles or drive cars, instead of walk. ... Once again, you prove to be a know-nothing, a know-all and a no-contest. Congratulations on this hat-trick of stupidity.”⁶

The Salford Advertiser did not publish two comments which I submitted consecutively to the website in response to Guardian journalist Tippetts – but it did publish these comments about me:

“Carvath is an immature hate filled little man and rather than make academic or intelligent arguments to support his point can only return to schoolboy insults.”

“Crass homophobia and so much hatred shown by Carvath but that’s no surprise give his idiocy.”

“...Carvath is a bigot...”

My personal blog was bombarded with scores of comments, mostly anonymous:

“People like you make me sick... Please do the world a favour a crawl back under the rock from where you came from.”

“This chap clearly needs medical help or at least sectioning.”

“...you are a very troubled man.”

“What a vile little man you must be. I always find that the worst homophobes are closet cases. Is there something you want to tell us?”

“Perhaps your mother should have been spayed.”

“You're a true idiot. Terribly well done to you for being so brilliantly and amusingly moronic. You've reminded me what stupidity looks like.”

“...mindless, un-Christian, narrow-minded, bigoted little twerps like you...”

“...you vile excuse for a man.”

“Now we all understand why you're an 'Independent'. No main stream party would dare be associated with such a scum bag.”

“Are you sure you're not standing for the BNP?”

“...you're a complete joke, and a vile one at that. I'm just glad there aren't too many 'ignorant deluded bigots' like you left in this country. Good luck with the campaign, you'll need it, you're pure filth.”

"You ain't gonna be anyone's MP – the people of Salford and Eccles have more sense than to vote for a homophobic and racist extremist!"

"You are a disgusting individual who does not even deserve to be standing as a candidate."

"Far from an upstanding member of society, you're an outdated ignoble disgrace to it."

"...a small minority of xenophobes⁷ such as yourself still exist in our society and you are entitled to have your thoughts on the subject, but it's a good job that no sane person would agree with you. Maybe you should move to South USA, there are a few in-bred people there who have the same views!"

"I dislike that you call homosexuality a perversion. However I do like that a completely bigoted Neanderthal twat-face like yourself will soon be losing your deposit when you fail to get any votes."

"What a disgusting, twisted, human being you must be. I am at a loss to understand why are you so concerned about someone's sexuality? I would suggest you have a problem and you need urgent help. ... Crawl back under your slimy, bigoted rock... There is no place for someone like you in our society, and certainly not in our political system. ...you vile, poisonous man..."

"... Homosexuality is not a perversion. ...no one holds the pathetic and ignorant views that you do."

"I am pursuing this matter with the GMP to ensure Mr Carvath is dealt with under existing hate laws. Watch this space."

Jeff Duncan wrote: "Sir, I have tonight contacted the police and council to report your post which breaks UK law on incitement to hatred. Mr J. Duncan - London."⁸

Michael Moulding wrote: "This man is a bigot. ... He is no Christian. ... Your comments are not out of love but out of hate for which your mental health disorder needs to be addressed. It seems you may have a personality disorder or suffer some sort of obsessive compulsive disorder which has affected your brain!"⁹

Lola wrote: "You're fucking sick... You certainly won't be representing any part of our great nation in the Commons. You're a disgrace to PPCs everywhere."¹⁰

Chris Lovell wrote: "A bigoted idiot like yourself doesn't deserve to be an MP for anywhere."¹¹

Mike wrote: "He's a hateful and odious little God-bot with a tenuous grip on reality, very limited intellectual capacity and a huge tendency towards confirmation bias, cognitive dissonance and the typical religionist's 'fear of others' mentality."¹²

Alexander Smithson wrote: "So because he's gay he's a "pervert". Somehow I doubt the people of Salford are quite so homophobic and intolerant. And the very idea of you being a candidate is utterly laughable. ... This isn't 1880. People are gay, get over it."¹³

Adrian Tippetts wrote: *“When I spoke to Channel M about your mandate to introduce Shariah-Christianity to Salford ... they hadn't heard of you unfortunately! Contrary to your ranting and raving on here, I have no problem debating with you – it would be a great opportunity to ... highlight your stupidity. ... But does any reputable media outlet want to entertain the views of the village idiot? ... Homosexuality is natural... That's what the experts say. Deal with it!”*¹⁴

On 10 December 2009 the Pink News website ran a story under the headline:

“ Would-be MP calls Tory candidate a ‘homosexual pervert’ ”

“An independent candidate for Salford and Eccles has received a police warning for calling a gay Tory candidate a ‘homosexual pervert’. Matthew Sephton, the chair of LGBTory, was selected as the Conservative candidate for the seat last weekend. But independent candidate Richard Carvath wrote on his blog: ‘I very much doubt that the vast majority of the Salford and Eccles electorate will want to be represented by a prominent homosexual activist.’”

“After a complaint was received, local police constable Jacky Thompson wrote to Carvath to advise him the remarks were ‘borderline criminal’ and asked him to remove the post. Responding, Carvath wrote: ‘Homosexuality is a perversion: that is both moral truth and medical fact. Therefore it is quite reasonable for me to refer to a person in whom the perversion of homosexuality is manifest as a homosexual pervert.’”

“... Sephton told PinkNews.co.uk: ‘As an unknown potential candidate, Mr Carvath is an irrelevance in this election campaign. He has been spouting nonsense and trying to spread hate in much of his campaigning so far and this is simply the latest example of it.’”

“... Some readers of Carvath's blog suggested he had made the comments to gain publicity. Carvath has written before of his frustration at local press not covering his candidacy.”

The Pink News article received 105 comments between 10 and 14 December 2009, including:

‘Jesus F Christ’: “What an idiot.”

‘f-Richard Carvath’: “Richard Carvath is a heterosexual pervert, god told me so.”

‘Pumpkin Pie’: *“...this woeful little turd.”*¹⁵

The Pink News readers’ insults went on and on:

“I condemn this Carvath guy for his blatant bigotry. What an idiot.”

“...this guy, Carvath, is, quite simply put, a nut-job in my opinion.”

“...Crazy Christian Crackpot...”

*“Carvath ... is BNP posing as an Independent and if elected, he’ll rejoin the BNP.
CARVATH IS A PUBLIC FRAUD!”*

“...this idiot.”

Jeff Duncan wrote: *“I urge all Pink News readers to report the hate crime via the Met’s website <https://online.met.police.uk/report.php>”*¹⁶

And one minute later Jeff Duncan wrote again: *“His vile homophobic hate remarks have STILL not been removed.”*¹⁷

‘AdrianT’ wrote: “Carvath is an ignorant crank... an evangelical Christian know-nothing! ...most people see him as a nut.”

‘AdrianT’ wrote: “Go to his blog and you’ll find he is a bottomless pit of Sharia-christianity crankiness.”

‘AdrianT’ wrote: “...he is just a nutcase... a total nutcase.”

Adrian Tippetts declared: *“...his extremist views and hatred of gay people is there for all to see...”*¹⁸

A Pink News reader asked Tippetts: *“Adrian: are you sure he’s not masturbating over the idea of Matthew Sephton taking him on in (ahem) ‘live debate?’”*¹⁹

Tippetts’ reply exclaimed: *“Quite possibly!”*²⁰

I posted this comment to the Pink News readers: "...I'd just like to say I love you all and I recommend men to female readers of Pink News and women to male readers."²¹

On 10 December 2009 the Lesbian & Gay Foundation website announced:

“ Tory candidate met with homophobic tirade ”

“Conservative candidate Matthew Sephton branded ‘homosexual pervert’ by rival.”

“On Monday 7 December, it was announced that LGBTory chair, Matthew Sephton had been selected by the Conservative Party to challenge Hazel Blears for the Salford and Eccles seat at the next General Election.”

“... Sephton has welcomed the challenge: ‘I’m proud to be selected to stand as one of many openly-LGBT candidates. ...’”

“The appointment of Sephton has been met by a tirade of homophobic abuse by the independent candidate – Richard Carvath – who is also contesting the seat.”

“In a blog entry entitled – ‘Tories select homosexual pervert for Salford and Eccles’ – Carvath describes himself as ‘pro-heterosexual’ and Sephton as a ‘homosexual pervert’.”

“... A closer look at Carvath's election manifesto, reveals a number of homophobic policies. If elected he vows to: ‘work for a complete ban on homosexuals fostering or adopting children, for the abolition of civil partnerships, for the re-criminalisation of the act of buggery, for the restoration of Section 28, and for the criminalisation of public homosexual behaviour and the public promotion of homosexuality.’”

“The Chief Executive of the Lesbian & Gay Foundation, Paul Martin said: ‘Richard Carvath as candidate for Salford and Eccles should be dedicated to representing all his constituents. His homophobic comments and policies send a clear message to the sizeable LGB&T population of Salford and Eccles that he doesn't represent them. This is not about political affiliation, a number of LGF employees and service users live in this constituency, it is simply unacceptable to make these kind of homophobic comments to anyone.’”

“... Mr Carvath has stated on his blog that his offensive entry has been reported to Greater Manchester Police. ...”

On 10 December 2009 the Liberal Conspiracy blog asked if I was:

“ The most bigoted candidate in Britain? ”

“If you were at all under the impression that Nick Griffin is the most viscerally unpleasant and bigoted individual to have yet announced his intention to stand for election to parliament at the next general election then think again and allow me to introduce you to Richard Carvath, the self styled 'independent PPC' (i.e. nutter with £500 to burn) for the new constituency of Salford and Eccles, which Hazel Blears is due to contest."

"...it's because of an appallingly bigoted attack on the Tories newly selected candidate for Salford and Eccles, Matthew Sephton, that Carvath has come to my attention."

"...Carvath ... a raging, wilfully ignorant, bigot and, as you might expect, a full paid-up member of the Christian Taliban... what a complete and utter cretin he is."

"...in common with the vast majority of homophobic bigots Carvath exhibits rather obvious signs of being anally-fixated ... he's got absolutely no chance whatsoever of being elected, so at least we can relax and enjoy the sight of him making a total arse of himself while paying £500 for the privilege of telling everyone that he's a bigot."

Comments on the Liberal Conspiracy blog in response to this article included:

"He's a bigot/tosser/deeply uneducated..."

"Bang him up quick, the tosser."

"Carvath is an offensive idiot..."

"Disgusting tosser indeed."

"Tosser."

On 11 December 2009 the Pink Paper website ran a story under the headline:

“ Tory chair branded ‘pervert’ by election competitor ”

“LGBTory chair Matthew Sephton has been branded a ‘homosexual pervert’ by one of his competitors who will challenge him for Hazel Blears' seat in the next General Election.”

“Independent candidate Richard Carvath met Sephton's appointment with a tirade of abuse via his online blog. In an entry entitled ‘Tories select homosexual pervert for Salford and Eccles’ – he describes himself as ‘pro-heterosexual’ and Sephton as a ‘homosexual pervert’.”

“... The Chief Executive of the Lesbian & Gay Foundation, Paul Martin said: ‘Richard Carvath as candidate for Salford and Eccles should be dedicated to representing all his constituents. His homophobic comments and policies send a clear message to the sizeable LGB&T population of Salford and Eccles that he doesn't represent them. This is not about political affiliation, a number of LGF employees and service users live in this constituency, it is simply unacceptable to make these kind of homophobic comments to anyone.’”

“LGBT Labour have sent out a supportive message to their Conservative rivals on twitter saying that they: ‘support LGBT Tory in their disgust at the vile bigotry being written about the Tory candidate in Salford’.”

“Carvath has stated on his blog that his offensive entry has been reported to Greater Manchester Police.”

The Pink Paper story attracted comments, including these two:

“This is just disgusting. It is time the voters made their disgust known and refused to support people like Richard Carvath. Is there no legal action that can be taken against such hate? I suspect Sephton would make a much better MP than his heterosexual homophobic rival!”²²

*“I am a constituent of Salford and gay and a Christian. His views are vile and disgusting. The blog can be reported as a hate crime by accessing your local police website and completing the hate crime form if you are offended by his remarks. This is what I have done. The more people report it the better chances of action being taken against him. I have set a new group on Face book ‘We do not love Richard Carvath’.
...”²³*

On 11 December 2009 the Lesbian & Gay Foundation website declared:

“ Hazel Blears stands by gay Tory against hate ”

“Speaking exclusively to LGF Online, Hazel Blears MP said, ‘I am shocked and dismayed at Richard Carvath's unwarranted personal comments about Mr Sephton. I have personally always voted to support the rights of gay and lesbian constituents and to tackle the discrimination so many have faced.’”

“This was in response to the shockingly homophobic and relentlessly personal attack on Salford and Eccles Conservative candidate Matt Sephton by Richard Carvath, an independent standing in the same constituency, on his blog.”

“Hazel went on to say: ‘I am proud that our Labour government has created civil partnerships, equalised the age of consent, scrapped the homophobic section 28, and outlawed discrimination in goods and services amongst a wide range of measures to ensure lesbian and gay people are rightly treated with respect and dignity. ... Attacking Mr Sephton on the grounds of his sexuality has no place in our politics, and I hope Mr Carvath will retract his statements.’”

“We asked LGBTory chairman Matt Sephton what he has to say on the matter. Matt responded, ‘As an unknown POTENTIAL candidate, Mr Carvath is an irrelevance in this election campaign. He has been spouting nonsense and trying to spread hate in much of his campaigning so far and this is simply the latest example of it. I believe it is unacceptable for anyone wishing to represent the people at Parliamentary level to be behaving in this way.’”

“He adds, ‘I think the people of Salford and Eccles are mature and responsible people. They are not interested in the sexuality of any of the candidates, they are interested in the issues that matter and in electing somebody who can do a good and effective job at representing them in the House of Commons.’”

“... The story has reached the ... mainstream press with the Salford Advertiser picking up the story. Adrian Tippetts, gay rights commentator and writer for pinknews.co.uk and The Guardian, comments on the Advertiser story: ‘Name me one peer reviewed study that backs up this incoherent babble. Extraordinary claims require extraordinary evidence.’”

“ ‘Another ridiculous claim: that being gay is caused by a troubled childhood and a distant father. This is extremist religious propaganda, long since debunked and certainly not supported by any scientific study, in any peer reviewed journal. It is totally rejected by every professional body in the Western World.’”

“ ‘He doesn't know what he is talking about and he isn't remotely qualified to talk. When interviewed, he cannot even string a sentence together. I don't believe that, even if he were to see the scientific evidence that supports the evolutionary explanations for homosexuality, he would have the intelligence to understand it.’”

And Adrian Tippetts wasn't satisfied with being quoted in the LGF article; Tippetts wrote the following comment published with the article:

“Why should Channel M be a megaphone for fanatics like you in the first place? They deal with serious news and informed opinion, not deluded village idiots. ... Act like an adult, and explain all the whacko unfounded claims you made in your un-reviewed, unpublished and un-publishable 'book'... The claims are listed for all to laugh at in the comments thread on the Salford Advertiser. Explain how you know they are true. I don't think you can. ... Adrian”²⁴

On 11 December 2009 the Modern Tosh blog invited its readers to:

“ Meet Dick, the ‘Pro-Heterosexual’ ”

“The New Conservative party machine, in a welcome move, has put forward Matthew Sephton, an openly gay candidate, and head of LGBTory... This is great news for those in Salford who want someone new, peppy and fresh, but as is always the case when opportunity knocks, we let in a little dirt as we tread on the carpet. Cue the lugubrious Richard Carvath, a self styled ‘pro-heterosexual’ and prospective independent MP for Salford and Eccles.”

“... It's quite obvious that Mr Carvath, in claiming to be ‘pro-heterosexual,’ is in fact, by insinuation, claiming that he is 'anti-homosexual.' But Richard struggles to leave things at rude and corrosive euphemism, as displayed by his attack on Matthew Sephton, the newly selected Tory candidate, on his personal blog ... in the title, dated December 7th, 'Tories Select Homosexual Pervert for Salford and Eccles.'”

“Richard is no stranger to controversial views... When asked in an interview with Salford Online about sex education, he commented that to be taught sex education in schools is akin to ‘grooming’ and ‘sexualising’ children. ... These are not the only unfounded and dangerous views Richard Carvath has voiced publicly, in the same interview with Tom Rodgers ... he goes on to say that homosexuality should be illegal...”

“Carvath claiming to run on a ticket of ‘social justice’ is frankly as insulting as his pseudo science is laughable... Richard’s ‘manifesto’ (and I use the term lightly) is little more than a deranged attack on everything and anything that he personally has distaste for. He is like a rabid dog, frothing at the mouth, making up pseudo statistics as he goes, in a desperate bid to support his fatuous policy ideas.”

“Dick must have a real homosexuality, inferiority, insecurity complex to have to resort to making up ‘facts’ and ‘statistics’ to support his false arguments and plastic fantastic moral standards. What drive and determination it must take to keep plodding along in that manner, blinkers and all, choosing to ignore the empirical evidence that continues to slap him, again and again, hard and fast in his bloated, patchy, red face.”

On 14 December 2009 I became aware of a new Facebook Group²⁵ named:

“ We do not love Mr Richard Carvath (PPC Salford) ”

The Group’s description: “Mr Carvath is an Evangelical Christian who has blogged bigotry and hatred against minority groups. He is standing as a PPC for Salford & Eccles and his views are vile and disgusting. We want him to crawl away and disappear!”

Under Group “News”: “He has received a written warning from Greater Manchester Police but refuses to adhere to their request to remove offensive material. Mr Carvath should be arrested and interviewed for possible hate crimes.”

On the Group’s Wall one comment describes me as: “a cunt.”

Group Admin Michael Moulding posted these statements on the Wall:

“Mr Richard Carvath is standing as a PPC for Salford & Eccles at the forthcoming general election. His views about homosexuality and the lifestyles of gay people are vile and disgusting. He has shown bigotry and hatred... This group has been set up to let Mr Carvath know that we do not love him...”

“He has been reported for Hate Crime Log No - 2687/07122009. Your local police website has a hate crime form which can be completed online.”

“I have had confirmation that Greater Manchester Police are making their enquiries and will have further information once these are completed. Watch this space! I have informed GMP that he should be arrested, interviewed under caution, file sent to CPS and a jury to decide his innocence or guilt.”

Nasty E-mails

In tandem with the public onslaught of hatred against me, I received several emails in my Yahoo account Inbox. Here are extracts from six emails:

“...I won't be voting for you. As a Catholic, White British Female I'd be disgusted to have you represent Salford and Eccles. Between now and May 2010 I think it would be beneficial for you to stop reading the Sun Newspaper and to read something more substantial. This may help you learn a fact (any fact) and could contribute to you finally becoming a better person... I am so sorry for you. To be this sick narrow minded individual, you must have had a terrible childhood to be this way. Possibly you were abused, from a broken home, bullied, or you just weren't that academically minded. Maybe a short spell of counselling will help? ... I also wonder if you've maybe thought about moving to Africa? ...your views fit in with a notably backward and poor continent. Luckily I have faith in the public and I know that someone with your morals and opinions (there was no fact in your manifesto) will never get into Parliament. ... I pray for sick individuals like you. I hope that God sets you on the right path.”

“I've just had sight of your election manifesto, in particular your attitudes concerning homosexuality. What a disgusting, hate riddled creature you are.”

“...your total bigotry towards the gay community... Surely you are better served in standing for the British National Party than pretending you are some sort of Independent candidate.”

“I read with concern your homophobic attitude towards gay people. I would like to correct you and say that homosexuality is every bit as natural as heterosexuality. ... I am also very disturbed that you think of yourself as a Christian. You are not a Christian. ... someone full of such hatred has some issues ... maybe you are a closeted homosexual and your obvious hatred towards homosexuals is a manifestation of your difficulty to accept yourself... You certainly look like you could possibly be a closeted homosexual.”

“What a disgusting, twisted, human being you must be. ...you need urgent help. ... Crawl back under your slimy, bigoted rock... There is no place for someone like you in our society, and certainly not in our political system. ...you vile, poisonous man...”

“Your so called 'policies' make me sick... Thankfully you are a nut and will never get elected. I hope you get raped by horny AIDS ridden lice infested gorillas.”

Conclusion

Setting the record Straight

Over the last few days I've been called hateful, deranged, mentally ill, fucking sick, a closet gay, a homophobe, a xenophobe, a racist, a bigot, an idiot, an extremist, a twerp, a tosser, a turd, a twat-face, a nut-job, a nutter, a nutcase, a criminal, a fanatic, a fool, a scum bag, a fraud, a moron, a weirdo, a loony, a crank, a cretin and a cunt.

It is homosexuals who are consumed by hatred – not those who seek to help them.

I do not hate homosexuals. I love homosexuals as people whilst at the same time I oppose their evil, corrupt and self-destructive homosexual attitudes and behaviour. I pity those who suffer the self-inflicted tragedy of the gay lifestyle and who are so consumed by hatred.

Guardian journalist Adrian Tippetts is desperate to convince the British public that homosexuality is as normal and natural as heterosexuality. But no matter how hard Tippetts tries to bamboozle people with pseudo-science, sophist rhetoric and references to biased pro-gay 'research' – the vast majority of people will not be so easily fooled as Tippetts is himself.

Given that an erect penis and a vagina go together hand-in-glove, evolutionist Tippetts should explain why the anus and rectum rip and tear, bruise and bleed so readily on the insertion of an erect penis. Why are bottoms not better evolved for intercourse? Given that homosexuals cannot reproduce, evolutionist Tippetts should explain how can homosexuality possibly be an innate, genetic inheritance from parents to child. How do homosexuals evolve from one generation to the next when they can't produce offspring? If homosexuality is genetic, how do those who can't reproduce pass on their homosexual genes? Tippetts ought also to explain how come gays readily revert to their natural heterosexuality – perhaps gays aren't born that way after all?

Let's get real: moral truth, medical knowledge and common sense all affirm that homosexuality is a perversion – and it is not a crime to say so. Homosexuals are really heterosexuals in need of healing. It is not hateful to want to help and to heal homosexuals. But healing cannot begin until homosexuals first recognise that they are sick – and this cannot happen when the truth about homosexuality is suppressed and denied. Loving people will always firmly speak the truth that homosexuality is a perversion in the best interests of homosexuals in need of healing – that they might recognise their sickness – and to prevent others from falling sick in the first place.

Love tells the Truth. Homosexuality is a perversion. Gays need healing and help. Gays need love and they need to hear the truth.

¹ Furthermore: "... Matthew's own blog is heavy with pro homosexual pervert content: see here, here and here. The Conservative Home website has reported Matthew's selection here. The Manchester Evening News' David Ottewell ... has reported Matthew's selection here. I very much doubt that the vast majority of the Salford and Eccles electorate will want to be represented by a prominent homosexual activist – and one who neither lives nor works in the constituency."
